4. Codes of conduct:

4.1

- * Introduction:

The Daily Board (DB) of YET INTERNATIONAL wants to contribute to the ability of our participants to enjoy their game of bowling and their continued development. We value standards and values when bowling. YET INTERNATIONAL wants to actively raise awareness among players, trainers, coaches and parents/caretakers. The YET INTERNATIONAL GRAND FINAL of the YET INTERNATIONAL tour is organized every year in the bowling alley at one of the affiliated organizers within the tour, and can be and remain a meeting place where bowlers can enjoy participating in the tournament together. Of course, this requires clear rules of conduct.

The DB has attempted to draw up rules of conduct that may help in this respect. The tournament organisers and the volunteers within the YET INTERNATIONAL TOUR actively promote the code of conduct during the tour and YET INTERNATIONAL GRAND FINAL. Especially the trainers, coaches and parents/caretakers have an important responsibility and an exemplary role in promoting and monitoring these rules of conduct. Violating these rules may result in sanctions.

General:

The code of conduct applies to all the attendees. The general rules of conduct and rules of conduct per target group (players, trainers, supervisors, parents / guardians, and supporters) are as valid as they have been drawn up. The specific rules of conduct for youth also apply to seniors.

4.2.1

Purpose:

The Daley Board (DB) of YET INTERNATIONAL wants to enable all participants to bowl to the best of their abilities. Enthusiasm, relaxation and fun are the most important elements. The goal is to let players participate in the tournament which should offer enough challenge to improve their game.

4.2.2

Who does this concern:

Everyone who participates in or is present at one of the YET INTERNATIONAL TOUR tournaments, either as a player or as a parent/coach/trainer/board member/volunteer, must be aware of this code of conduct. Parents/caretakers of participants/players must also be aware of this code of conduct. The code of conduct must be promoted and complied with by everyone present at the tournament. We must be able to address each other in this respect. Good manners are the foundations for our actions.

4.2.3

What is it all about:

This concerns how we want to interact with each other. And it concerns rules. It concerns what we think is normal and not normal. We call this standards and values. We first try to clarify what the rules are. Then you agree with everyone what we mean by this (what is normal and what is not). If people do not comply with the rules of the code of conduct, the Board may impose sanctions.

4.3

*

General rules of conduct:

The (DB) of YET INTERNATIONAL explicitly draws attention to standards and values during and after the bowling sport. A number of general rules that apply both to the bowling itself, the use of, and when accessing the bowling alleys follow below.

4.3.1

What are our principles:

- * Bowling is both an individual and a team sport that you practise with each other and the opponent. No bowling without team play and no bowling without an opponent.
 - * We play bowling with each other, including the opponent.
 - * We always act fair, even if others fail to do so.
 - * We always respect the tournament officials.
 - * The winner is the one who can lose with his head held up high.
 - * Sport is for everyone, not just for the very best.
 - * I am careful with your stuff; will you do the same with mine?
 - * A deal is a deal.
 - * Always lead by example.

 - * We use our own ball or the bowling ball(s) made freely available by the bowling alley.
 - * We wait until the pin erector has finished its cycle. Make sure that the sweeper is up.
 - * We do not throw the ball onto the lane with an arch.

Every volunteer who works at one of the affiliated tournament organizations within the YET INTERNATIONAL TOUR and therefore works with children provides a certificate of good conduct. The volunteer can demonstrate with the certificate of good conduct that he or she did not do something in the past that would stand in the way of volunteering. The certificate of good conduct is therefore an important part of the prevention and integrity policy of every volunteer organization. By actively pursuing such a policy, children are truly in safe hands.

4.9

Alcohol, tobacco and drugs:

- * It is very important that adults lead by example. Because the example is not only set for adults but often also for very young children, the following issues should be mentioned separately:

The use and possession of drugs in and around the bowling alley is not permitted and will lead to an immediate ban.
